BURGESS

Since its 1927 foundation in Manchester England, Burgess has established a proud history and heritage in the manufacture of the very best beds and mattresses. The original Burgess Bedding factory was based near Hen Market in Shudehill. It was next door to the local “Rovers Return” Inn – which sadly was demolished after the war. By the late 1920’s, the Burgess Bedding Company had already secured the business of many independent high street customers as well as multiple chain outlets.

Burgess spent many years situated on Pollard Street, Manchester. When the Mill was sold for development, the business moved to its current home in the Rossendale Valley.

The very essence of this is the highly skilled team of mattress and bed creators, who uphold the values and traditions established by our founder Harry Burgess. The Burgess Bedding Company is dedicated to ensuring our product, our designs and our teams are created, manufactured and developed to the highest standard. We hope that in the tradition of Harry Burgess, owning a Burgess Bed is something to both cherish and be proud of. Everything manufactured at Burgess regardless of price point is created using the finest materials, attention to detail and craftsmanship.
